SCHOOL BOARD HOLDS MIDNIGHT SESSION

Specifications for Junior H. S.
Adopted—Will Advertise for Bids

A called meeting of the school board last night resulted in a midnight session. The specifications for the Junior High School building, prepared by N. P. Nelson, were read, and this occupied the attention of the board until late.

The plans and specifications of the building were adopted, but a few minor changes will be made in the heating plant.

It was decided to advertise for bids on construction. This will be done today, and the time for receiving sealed bids will end at noon July 3rd.

The building in general is as was first decided on by the board. The walls will be of brick and the trimmings of terra cotta. The bricks are the "Matte" and made by the V V V Brick & Tile Company of Neodesha. The building will be furnished throughout with electric lights, and up-to-date plumbing and ventilation. Bids for the plumbing and the heating plant will also be advertised. These are separate from the building proper.

Excellent Vaudeville

Duddy and Duddy at the Roof Garden pleased a well filled house last night. The Act is a good one. Beautiful embroidery designs are torn from paper and presented to the ladies in the audience. This is one of the few vaudeville acts that instruct as well as amuse.

S. S. PICNIC BIG SUCCESS

In spite of the threatening weather a large number attended the picnic of the Methodist Sunday school at Katy City park yesterday afternoon. There was something stirring every minute. Three baseball games, a number of tennis games and horseshoe pitching were included in the amusements for the grown folks and some of the youngsters. The children were treated to automobile rides around the race track, and plenty of swings and hammocks were put up for the children's use. At the close of the evening a big picnic lunch was served. The picnic was pronounced a decided success.

FRUITS IN ENDLESS VARIETY FOR SUNDAY

No Lack of Deserts and Plenty of Fresh Vegetables Too.

The grocers are displaying for Sunday marketers a fine variety of the most dainty fruits to be found any place. They include cherries, both California and the home grown varieties at twenty and thirteen cents per box, home grown blackberries, some apricots and peaches shipped, together with a few apples, some of which are of a size and flavor better than has been on the market for some time. But added to these cantaloupes and watermelons, both of which are still put in the luxury class. To that class belongs also lemons which are selling the best kind at forty cents per dozen. Pineapples, bananas and oranges are of course included as usual in the fruit list.

For vegetables anything in the shape of beans, peas, tomatoes, summer squash, cabbage and such is to be found in abundance and at lower prices than before. The dry weather has cut the supply of fresh peas a little short but some of the grocers have already secured a good amount for Saturday.

MEETING TO UNITE COMMERCIAL BODIES

Interesting Things Under Discussion at the Parsons Meeting of Southeastern Kansas Cities

There will be a few of Chanute commercial club members at the meeting of the commercial bodies of Southeastern Kansas cities at Parsons Wednesday, June 25th. At this time nearly all the cities in this part of the state will be represented and several questions of importance to these cities will be discussed.

It is understood that the subject of freight rates will be one of the prominent questions up for discussion. Every city is, of course, interested in seeing that there is no discrimination in rates.

There is some talk of making it a state-wide commercial association. Governor Hodges has been invited to address the Parsons meeting.
